Dear friend,

I hope you are well and healthy there. I am also good. I know you are preparing for the competitive exams. I know you since you school times you are a brilliant student. You are a very hard working person. I will advise you to study English and general knowledge for the competitive exams because these two subjects are primary need of any exam. With studying English you should focus on speaking English fluently without mistakes. For both the English and General knowledge there are so many books available of different writers and videos on the social media. You can study with both books and videos. You are more intelligent and you can prepare both the subjects very well.

Rest is fine, I wish you a bright future with my best of wishes.

Thanking You,
Your friend
Shweta.

Mahatma Gandhi said physical training are as important as mental training. It means students must play games and sports. They help in their personality development. Mere bookish knowledge would not lead to a proper development of a student. There should be a proper balance between physical and mental education of the students. By playing games and sports students can concentrate more on their studies.

Games and Sports leads to the physical and mental development. In games we do exercise and exercise keeps our body and mind fresh and active. Games and Sports also develops the spirit of sportsmanship. They develop the feeling of leadership among a student or a person. In games the players are divided into teams in which one player will be a leader who handles the team. Thus, creating future leaders.

Games and Sports helps in establishing discipline among the students. While playing the games they follow the rules of referee and umpire. Therefore they learn to follow the rules and regulations. It also helps in establishing coordination among the players and they make efforts together to win a game. And thus establishing team spirit.

Games and Sports help in international cooperation. The player may play games at international level and interact with the player of other countries also.

Games and Sports are a source of entertainment also. People get joy by playing or by seeing their teams play. People cheer their favourite team to encourage them and feels happy if their favourite team wins.

There is an old saying "All day work and no play" makes a person dull. Thus It means games and sports are necessary in life like all other things. Games and Sports helps in the personality development, career growth, ^{developing} leadership quality, establishing discipline, cooperation and entertain us also. By this we can realise the importance of Games and Sports in our life.
