"Whether the study of three languages at school is necessary or not"

The study of three languages at school is pretty much necessary. It is important that students should know about various things in the world. For this, he required to be prepared with knowledge about various languages which will help him to understand the literature, culture and so many things about different people. Besides this, his communication ability gets much improvement through this as he is dealing with various languages. He can talk to different people in their languages. Today it is important to establish relationship on various in the world. Students are considered to be the future policy makers. Moreover, many students studies in foreign and becomes some of engineers, doctors etc. They also wants them. To improve their efficiency they should know about the languages where they works. Thus, it's become pre-requisite condition to possess a knowledge about languages. It helps to achieve their aim and better future. But one may also deny this fact as learning foreign languages or study of three languages at school is not necessary, because it lessens the interest of students in their own languages.

Overall, It can be concluded as "Learning language at school is necessary but to a few extent."

(2) The poet uses the example of earth from the nature to say that there can be life under apparent stillness. According to the poet, the earth is our teacher, we can learn many things from earth. It takes care of all living beings and also maintains balance in nature but at the same time it remains silent. Similarly, man should be productive and useful and should make efforts to maintain peace. The poet does not say that man should be inactive, but he should be progressive. But little stillness is important. Earth and other things in nature teach us that there can be life under apparent stillness.

(2) Derry was a fourteen years old child. He had a burn (from acid) on his face. Some people showed sympathy for him and some mocked at him. They said that it is the most terrible and ugliest thing that they have ever seen. Because of this behaviour of people, he had developed a negative outlook towards people and life. But Mr. Lamb has a positive outlook towards people and life. Even after losing one of his leg in a bomb explosion, he said Derry that he is no way less than other people. He can also do well in life. He can also be happy if he holds a positive attitude, and focus on his qualities rather than his appearance. This is thing that Derry drew from Mr. Lamb towards Mr. Lamb in spite of himself.
