Central Idea of 'Keeping Quiet'

'Keeping Quiet' is a beautiful poem written by Pablo Neruda. It is an extract taken from the Neruda's poem "Endymion". In this poem Neruda demands the necessity of 'Introspection'. It is generally believed that all the troubles of the world are caused by human's actions. Human being already created much chaos. Now, it is the time he should take a rest and have some quiet introspect, which help them to review their action and start their activity without damaging the earth and in beautiful manner. Neruda counts for twelve as they twelve hours of sign in the clock. Neruda ask to keep still for this brief interval of time.
