Question 9

Q.2) Play's relevance in the present day circumstances

BASE

The play "The Silver Box" is a satire on the present day society. This story shows that the rich men has every source to save themselves and hide the crime while poor man who don't have money for their own defence have to suffer a lot because of injustice. This story has two family one is rich & liberal, his selfish boy and spoilt child Jack who is nuisance to the society but even being guilty he is not punished by the law. The other family is of a poor and honest maid servant Jones who lost her job because of her husband James Jones, and his 3 school going poor children. Because of crime of his husband poor Mrs. Jones was arrested. This poor family had no money for their defence and James Jones was given 1 month hard labour for the same crime for which the Jack Barthick a rich and pampered man is roaming without test.

These all circumstances shows us the injustice going on with poor people and the rich men doing a crime are ignored and are given clean chit. This satire is very relevant to the present day circumstances and sufferings of poor.
