At first sight it might seem as if modern human beings who spend so much time getting help from machines are very lazy for what are the machines for, but to save people trouble. They are extra limbs which men have made outside, themselves to do their work for them. Cranes and lifts, trains and motors are extra legs to do the job of walking and running. And yet it is difficult to suppose that men would have gone to all the bother of inventing these complicated machines merely because they were lazy, that would have taken all this trouble merely to save themselves from trouble. And in fact man is not at all lazy; he is the most restless and energetic of all living creatures.

Speech is a great blessing, but it can also be a great curse for while it helps us to make our intentions and desires known to our fellows. It can also, if we use it carelessly, make our attitude completely misunderstood. A slip of the tongue, the use of an unusual word or of an ambiguous word and so on, may create an enemy where we had hoped to win a friend. Again different classes of people use different vocabularies, and the ordinary speech of an educated man may strike an uneducated listener as showing pride unwittingly we may use a word which bears a different meaning to our listener from what it does to men of our own class. This thought, but one which demands careful handling only a fool will express himself alike to all kinds and condition of men.

“Where there’s a will there’s a way” is, an old saying. He who resolves upon doing a thing by that very resolution overcomes the obstacles to it and half secures its achievement. It is so in all the occupations of life at school, at college, or in the world. To determine to succeed is the sorest way to success. Difficulties disappear before an unswerving resolution. This was well exemplified in the life of Napoleon. He throw his whole force of body and mind upon his work. He was told that the Alps stood in the way of his armies. There shall be no Alps, he said and a road was made across them over heights previously considered inaccessible. Impossible said he is a word only to be found in the dictionary of fools. And so it is; a determination not to give in is the surest condition of success in any undertaking. But the young students most carefully guard himself against the errors of mistaking a more undisciplined energy and self – will for the needful firmness and self command on which success depends.
